

Mrs. Koweek's Science Classroom Rules (discussed by all MS classes):

1. Be respectful of other people's work - don't touch other people's projects that are stored around the classroom.
2. Be respectful during class discussions - wait your turn, listen to others, and don't make noise while others are talking.
3. Say "oh, how lovely" whenever you are assigned a partner to work with - don't make negative remarks. Work well with whomever you are working with.
4. Include others - make sure no one feels left out of conversations, discussions, or activities.
5. Show respect for yourself, your classmates, and your teacher - and your teacher promises to do the same.
